JUSTICE BOND SAVS. "THE GRIP CASE"

FRIENDLY WARNING TO A THIEVING CONTEMPORARY

THE remarkable interview with Justice Bond was obtained by the SUNDAY AMERICAN exclusively for publication in that newspaper. A thieving contemporary appropriated it for its own and published it as such in one of its late editions. At this time the AMERICAN will not mention the name of this news thief.

BUT WE ASK THIS CONTEMPORARY TO REMEMBER THE SAD FATE OF REFLIFE W. THENZI!

Justice Bond, who presided at the trial which acquitted Hattie Le Blanc of the murder of Clarence F. Glover, to-day at his home at Waltham declared that the investigation of the murder mystery should go on. The justice asserted emphatically that the guilty person should be found.

It is probable that the Attorney-General of the State will take up the whole matter. In view of the contradictory testimony and the many remarkable facts connected with the tragedy, there is a public demand that the guilty person be found and punished.

ATTORNEY-GENERAL'S OFFICE HAS ACTED BEFORE.

LE BLANC GIRL READY TO LEAVE

Hattie Le Blanc is finishing her preparations to-day to start for her home in Cape Breton to-morrow on the Dominion Atlantic steamer Boston, which leaves Long Wharf at 1 p. m.

The little seventeen-year-old girl, who was declared not guilty of the murder of Clarence F. Glover by a jury in East Cambridge last Wednesday, will be accompanied on the trip home by her father, Abraham Le Blanc, her younger sister, Lilian, and Captain Peter King, an old friend of the family.

Hattie will take with her a lot of new clothing which, although friends have given to her and a purse of money that will last several hundred dollars. Today the girl was in the care of Detective Larry Murphy, who had been instructed by her attorney, Arthur M. Johnson, to look after her until the boat starts home.

A reception was tendered to Hattie Le Blanc last night by the French colony of New York. This had been planned to take place just after the trial, but the friends of the girl were notified by Mr. Johnson to postpone it for a few days.

The gathering last night was at the home of Mrs. Albert Le Blanc, a sister of the girl, who lives at No. 41 Chapel street, South End. Mrs. Le Blanc is not a relative of Hattie, but came from the same family.

Following the reception at Mrs. Le Blanc's the girl was taken to the home of the Attorney-General, where she was met by her father and sister. The girl was then taken to the home of her father, where she will remain until she leaves for Cape Breton to-morrow.

EXPLOSION IN GRAND CENTRAL R. R. STATION

NEW YORK, Dec. 19.—Twenty-four men and women were blown to pieces, crushed to death or burned alive by an explosion and fire that destroyed the power house of the New York Central and New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroads to-day.

More than 100 were injured, and eight of these will probably die.

Thirteen bodies had been recovered at 9.30, but the other victims were buried beneath the ruins of the building, which were still on fire. Many of the buildings in the vicinity were almost shaken from their foundations and threatened to collapse.

THREE PERSONS KILLED ON STREET CAR A BLOCK AWAY.

Several persons were injured by falling walls, and several buildings will be unsafe for occupancy again.

The disaster was caused by the explosion of a battery of boilers in the power house. The fire that followed ignited the gas in the main under the boiler, and this also blew up, spreading destruction and injury for more than a mile in all directions.

Three persons were killed on a street car, a block away, when it was lifted from the rails and crashed into a mass of debris. The known dead are:

THE DEAD.

Compressed Air Boilers Burst.
An enormous amount of compressed air was carried in the reservoirs in the power house, and it was estimated that the force of the explosion was about 100 tons.

President Brown of the New York Central to-day gave out a statement after a careful examination had been made, but he knew little about the cause. As the men who can explain the cause of the disaster were testimony given by the force of the explosion, the real origin will probably never be known.

Runners were current after the disaster that it had been set off by an explosion of steam, but no one could say for certain.

Almost immediately following the explosion of the power house, the fire broke out, and the fire department was called. The fire was extinguished by the fire department, but the damage was done.

AMERICAN WANT "ADS" BRING QUICK RESULTS

BAY STATE AUTO MEN REORGANIZE

By J. C. KERRISON.

The supreme body has followed the lead of the Massachusetts Association of the Bay State Automobile Association, has been of such a character as to place that association in a most responsible position. This committee intends to place the organization in the hands of the members at large on Wednesday, December 28. At that time it will make a report of all transactions and things since it assumed office about a year ago.

The report will indicate that the committee has transacted the affairs of the club on an absolutely sound and substantial business foundation; that it has brought order out of chaos and made the association strong.

The committee acted at large over considerable to the efforts of those men in retaining among the active motorists organizations of the country as a prestige which has a glorious past, and whose future is now fully as bright as ever.

There has been no great exodus of members, or the coming of new ones to the association this year. It has gone steadily on its work, doing good wherever it can and proving a decided factor in the motorist affairs of New England.

Just what the members at large will decide to do at the forthcoming annual meeting is, of course, entirely conjectural. In view, however, of the excellent work done among the members at large, it is fair to expect that the association will continue to do its work in the future with the same vigor and energy as it has shown in the past.

At the annual meeting it was decided to continue the good work inaugurated by the committee, and to place in a position to do so the greatest number of organizations in the country.
